

CUSTOMER SUPPORT SERVICES

From basic services to total care packages, International Thermal Systems Customer Support Services division pro-actively helps the customers increase their return on investment in terms of longevity, safety and performance.

ITS provides a complete solution of sales, service and support for all equipment including other manufacturers equipment.

Our Parts division has made ordering parts very convenient with the addition of our online parts store. Contact us for equipment manuals and recommended spare parts lists for your equipment.

The Service team helps maintain equipment and keep production running at maximum efficiency. ITS provides technical support from factory trained technicians.

Partnership Philosophy: Every customer is our business partner and our goal is growth for all of our partners. We are committed to providing the best engineering, manufacturing, service and support in the industry.

To help achieve this, the ITS Customer Support Services team is growing. We are expanding the division with more factory trained technicians. We offer many services including preventative maintenance programs to operator training to complete equipment installations.
